

uclick Launches New Series of International Cartoons

Kansas City, MO (March 29, 2007) uclick is pleased to announce an exciting new line of international cartoons to uclick's network of consumer sites. The "Views" editorial features recently debuted on GoComics.com, MyComicsPage.com and the editorial section of the popular online magazine Slate.

The "Views" line offers a wide selection of perspectives from award-winning cartoonists with leading publications from 75 countries around the world. Categorized by region, the political cartoons provide a unique window on global issues as perceived by the world press.

The service is highlighted by the flagship feature Views of the World, the daily cartoon on top issues from a major world media outlet. Visionés del Mundo is the Spanish-language version of Views of the World. Others in the "Views" line include ViewsBusiness and the regional cartoon selections ViewsAfrica, ViewsAmerica, ViewsAsia, ViewsEurope, ViewsLatinAmerica and ViewsMideast.

Wit of the World is a humor feature by the funniest cartoonists from the U.S. and abroad whose work appears in The New Yorker, MAD, Punch, and other of the world's great humor magazines.

"This launch is quite significant, as it delivers editorial cartoons from all parts of the world, to all parts of the world," said uclick CEO Chris Pizey. "The 'Views' line is the voice of a global network of cartoonists, speaking a language people everywhere can understand. We're excited to offer cartoons with such broad appeal."
